

Coin-stampers should get their day in court

By Cord Blomquist
Letter to the Editor
Evansville Courier & Press
November 21, 2007

To the editor:

I was saddened to read "Liberty Dollar office raided" in the Courier & Press. It seems an innocent enough activity, stamping out a few silver dollars, but the U.S. Treasury will have none of it.

After all, with that mess in Iraq solved, the war on terror won, the immigration issue behind us and our school kids outscoring every country in the world, it's time to start tending to these other major problems.

On a more serious note: As someone who has spent his life fighting for liberty and small government, my heart goes out to my coin-stamping friends in Evansville. I hope they get their day in court and get back what's rightfully theirs.

Cord Blomquist
Policy analyst
Competitive Enterprise Institute
Washington, D.C